

The Name Leo

There is a common thread that ties together the legacy of all the popes who have taken the name Leo—a thread that weaves through the centuries and culminates now in Pope Leo XIV. From Leo the Great to Leo XIII, the name "Leo" has consistently signified a pontificate marked by courageous clarity, doctrinal integrity, and a deep pastoral concern for both the Church and the broader world. Leo the Great defended the truths of Christ's divinity and humanity with theological brilliance while protecting the city of Rome from physical devastation. Leo II emphasized sound doctrine and liturgical reform. Leo III crowned Charlemagne, signaling the intertwining of Church and culture. Leo X, though controversial, presided over the Church at a time of immense artistic and intellectual flourishing. Leo XIII, in turn, confronted the upheavals of modernity with calm resolve, grounding the Church's engagement with the world in both reason and Revelation. Together, these popes named Leo represent a legacy of steadfast leadership in times of crisis, vision in times of change, and a consistent call for the Church to be both guardian of the truth and servant of humanity. In choosing this name, Pope Leo XIV enters a lineage defined not by political power or personal ambition, but by a courageous fidelity to the faith and an enduring hope in the renewal of the Church for every age .

Why is the pope's ring called the "Fisherman's Ring" and what is its secret?

The "Ring of the Fisherman" is an essential attribute of papal vestments, no less important than the tiara. It is not passed from one pontiff to another, but is made for each pope individually. What secrets does this symbol of the papacy hide, and why is it called the “Ring of the Fisherman” and not otherwise?

The head of the Catholic Church is considered the heir of the Apostle Peter, one of the most faithful disciples of Christ. Before baptism, he was a simple fisherman, and the name of this profession began to be applied to him later as a metaphor. In Christianity, the apostle is considered the "catcher of human souls", who gathers sinners and instructs them on the true path.

As a follower of Peter, the Pope of Rome also catches human souls, preventing them from wallowing in the abomination of sins. That is why the papal ring was called the “Ring of the Fisherman”. It is decorated with the image of the cross and the Apostle Peter casting a net into the sea. But at the same time, the ring of each pope is unique. It is made for the new pontiff and decorated with initials.

Until 1842, the papal ring with his name served as a seal to certify letters and important documents. The "Ring of the Fisherman" was made of pure gold, and the dean of the College of Cardinals presents it to the elected pope during the coronation ceremony. At the same time, the head of the Catholic Church should reverently fall with his lips to the relic, as a sign of humility and respect for the great mission of the successor to the work of the Apostle Peter.

After the death or abdication of the pope, his ring is destroyed. Previously, this was done to prevent cardinals from forging seals on documents. Nowadays, when papers are no longer sealed with a ring, this is just an important tradition. The custom of destroying the ring, and then making it again, served as a reason to call it the “phoenix ring”.

Pope Benedict XVI spoke about the meaning behind the pallium in 2011. He said, "The lamb's wool used to create the pallium is meant to represent the lost, sick, or weak sheep which the shepherd places on his shoulders and carries to the waters of life." It serves as a reminder of the pope's

A CHRISTIAN IS NOT WEARING PLASTIC SIGN

There is a story told of a traveler by bus throughout Israel one summer. On one part of the journey, the bus driver placed a big white sign by the passenger side windshield. Since it was in Arabic, he asked their guide to translate. The sign said, "This is an Arab bus, owned and operated by Arabs. Please do not throw stones." When they got close to Tel Aviv, the driver pulled another sign from behind his seat, and replaced the first sign in the windshield. Since it was in Hebrew, he asked their guide to translate again. The new sign said, "This is a Jewish bus, owned and operated by Israelis. Please do not throw stones." The driver used to do this because Arabs and Jews long history of enmity and fight with each other. To exhibit their anger an Arab bus was stoned in the Jewish area and a Jewish bus was stoned in an Arab area. It happens even now occasionally. How do you tell the difference between an Arab bus and a Jewish bus? A big plastic sign in the windshield. When you apply this story to a Christian, how do you identify a Christian? I guess we cannot wear plastic signs – "I am a Christian." That trick may not help; because that does not reflect what Jesus told us. Jesus said, "Love one another as I have loved you; all will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another" (Jn 13: 35).

By This Everyone Will Know That You Are My Disciples, If You Love One Another John 13:35

Although he was pope from the moment he accepted his election May 8, the inauguration Mass — which replaced the papal coronation after the pontificate of St. Paul VI — formally marks the beginning of his ministry with his reception of the fisherman's ring and his pallium, a wool band worn around his shoulders. The inaugural Mass for the Beginning of Pontificate will be held at 10 am in St. Peter's Square on Sunday, May 18th. This Mass will be the formal installation ceremony where Pope Leo XIV will receive the fisherman's ring and the pallium as symbols of his papal office.

"GRANDMA PLEASE"

I heard about a unique telephone service called "Grandma, Please" that is geared to latch-key kids (a child who returns to an empty home after school or other activities or a child who is often left at home with no supervision). "Grandma, Please" provides a free number kids can call if they are home alone and need someone to talk to. Senior citizens volunteer their time to answer telephones and talk to kids who are lonely or scared and need a little adult company.

The "Grandma, Please" switchboard gets about 800 calls per month in a big city like Chicago. A source reveals that over 43% of the children's parents are single parents. When the child returns home after school the parent is not yet back home. As those children who live in that kind of family condition feel lonely and want to share the news of their school day with someone. Some will call because they heard a noise outside and got scared. Most call simply for the chance to connect with another human being. They are so lonely. One volunteer reports that her phone calls often end with the child saying, "I love you, Grandma. What is your name?"

Jesus' love commandment demands us to give a thought to this story.

2:00 am New! Mass for the Initiation of the Petrine Ministry of the Bishop of Rome, Leo XIV

From St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, the Holy Mass for the historic inauguration of the pontificate of Pope Leo XIV. (240 minutes)

Encore Sunday, May 18 at 11:00 am & 5:00 pm

The Inauguration Mass

The theological significance of the inauguration Mass lies in its public witness to the pope's role as Vicar of Christ. The rite is not a sacrament—since the pope is already a bishop—but a liturgical celebration that includes the conferral of the pallium and the profession of faith. The pallium, a woolen band placed on the shoulders of the pope (and later archbishops), symbolizes the yoke of Christ and the pastoral care of the flock entrusted to him. Its use dates to the fourth century and was gradually incorporated into papal ceremonies by the early Middle Ages. Unlike a coronation—which emphasized temporal kingship and was last used by Pope Paul VI in 1963—the modern inauguration emphasizes service, mission, and the pastoral office. Paul VI's renunciation of the papal tiara during the Second Vatican Council marked a definitive theological shift, reemphasizing the pope's role as the "Servant of the Servants of God."
